

All To Get Her

PRESSKIT

All To Get Her is the perfect mix of old school Pop Punk, refreshing melodies and banging drums. Their main focus and energy always goes into playing the best possible live show no matter what!

They released their first EP "Red Carpet" in 2016 and played a big number of shows in Switzerland. This EP also brought the opportunity to play shows with bands like Four Year Strong, ROAM and Stand Atlantic.

In 2019 All To Get Her dropped their Debut Record „Cheesecakes And Earthquakes“. It was a full success! They got added on official Spotify playlists and had the pleasure of playing with The Bottom Line and Zebrahead.

Now they wanna focus on playing a lot of shows outside of Switzerland!

All To Get Her was formed in 2011 by Andrea Viciconte (Vocals / Guitar) and Silvan Truniger (Drums). The first years were marked with ongoing member changes. At the end of 2014 the formation was finally complete with Eduardo Duft (Bass) and Tom Ebnöther (Lead Guitar). They immediately started to write new songs and played shows with the new formation. In November 2015 they went to Stuttgart (GER) for two weeks to record their first EP "Red Carpet". This EP opened up many opportunities for the band like support shows (Four Year Strong, ROAM, Stand Atlantic, Blackout Problems) and appearances on radio shows all over Switzerland and Germany.

In 2017 All To Get Her won the "Waldbühne-Contest" against over 200 other bands and got to play at one of Switzerland's biggest festivals "Gurtenfestival". This was definitely a milestone for the band and gave them hope and enthusiasm to play even bigger shows in and outside of Switzerland. With that in mind, they started to write new songs - this time for a full-length album.

After endless discussions, countless decisions and multiple recordings of the whole album, "Cheesecakes And Earthquakes" was finally due to be released. The release was celebrated with a big and wild release-party which attracted more than 200 fans from all around the country.

Another milestone of the four-piece was opening for their childhood-heroes Zebrahead alongside The Bottom Line.

PRESS QUOTES

Altpress

Swiss pop-punk outfit All To Get Her released a stripped-down version of their 2019 single “Disaster,” which appeared on their debut album, Cheesecakes And Earthquakes. The quartet ditched the drums and focused on raw vocals and harmonies to give the song a new, deeper feeling. “Let’s get to know one another in a completely different way,” the band say. “It means a lot to us to disclose [to] you this side of our band, and we hope to touch you.”

Volatile Weekly

The original version of “Disaster” is an energetic tune with mosh-worthy melodies that was featured on Spotify’s “New Punk Tracks” and “Pop Punk’s Not Dead” playlists. In the re-imagined version, the band transform the single into a gorgeous, tender ballad, allowing you to hear an entire new level of harmonies that you might have otherwise missed.

RAWK.ch (translated)

All To Get Her started the evening with proper pop punk. About a year ago I introduced them here and reviewed their debut EP. I finally managed to experience it live. I was curious to see how the songs of the EP translate live. There were already a few people there. Just like the band, they went full speed ahead right from the start. In the review I mentioned that they could be a little bit more “cheeky” but that didn’t apply to the live show. A great set, boys; I’m looking forward to more music.
